

Trump's 5 Million Dollar Golden Pass: Now You Too Can Buy Immortality (and a Golf Cart)

Move over Willy Wonka, Donald J. Trump has officially out-golden-ticketed you. Introducing the Trump 5 Million Dollar Golden Pass™—an all-access, gold-plated, ego-infused, possibly radioactive VIP card that guarantees absolutely nothing except bragging rights and a suspicious glitter rash.

According to sources (i.e., a guy in a MAGA hat behind a Waffle House), the Golden Pass offers:

- Lifetime entry to any Trump golf course—including the ones currently closed, foreclosed, or mysteriously replaced by Spirit Halloween stores.
  - A selfie with a cardboard cutout of Trump in Mar-a-Lago's Secret Gold Room™.
  - Unlimited ketchup for your steaks (even the well-done ones, heathen).
  - One (1) legally ambiguous pardon, valid in select states and TV interviews.
- Exclusive access to the "Truth Social Jacuzzi Lounge," where tweets go to be reincarnated as political rants.

But wait, there's more! For an extra $999.99, you can add the Ivanka Upgrade, which includes a scented candle, a guided tour of her skincare fridge, and a vague promise of networking opportunities in Dubai.

Critics have called the Golden Pass "a grotesque display of late-stage capitalism," "the fever dream of a melted Rolex," and "actually kind of genius, we're jealous we didn't think of it first."

"It's the best pass. The most luxurious."

*Everyone says so. Better than Disneyland.
Better than heaven.”*

—Donald J. Trump (probably)

Is it a grift? Is it performance art? Is it just another step in Trump’s plan to turn the American presidency into a subscription service?

We may never know. But for only $5 million, you can join the elite ranks of golden-pass holders (so far just a guy named Randy from Florida and a crypto bro who mortgaged his yacht).

So act fast! Supplies are limited! (There’s only one. It’s just been sold 14 times.)

Because in Trump’s America, everything has a price tag—even reality. And it’s gold-plated, baby.

What Real Americans Are Saying:

“I sold my kidney for the Golden Pass. Best decision I ever made. Trump winked at me once from a golf cart.”

— Randy, Florida Man (currently missing one kidney and three teeth)

“I tried to pay with the pass at Walmart. They arrested me. Worth it.”

— Brenda, patriot and amateur TikTok economist

“The pass came with a free cheeseburger and a subpoena.”

— Chad, crypto investor and part-time rodeo clown

“Bought the Golden Pass, lost my house, but I gained a dream. A stupid, shiny dream.”

— Misty, influencer, motivational speaker, and now legally homeless
